From its source in Burgundy, the French river Seine flows through Paris and the province of Normandy before emptying into the English Channel at Le Havre. It's home to many major attractions, such as Louvre, Notre Dame and Eiffel Tower. With close to 30 annual sailings and an unparalleled selection of 5, 7 or 9-night itineraries to select from, cruisers are spoiled for choice.

Between Paris and Rouen lies beautiful Vernon with many of its timber-framed houses dating back to the Middle Ages. Close by is Giverny with its famous gardens, immortalised by the impressionist painter Claude Monet who lived in the village.

Built in the late 12th century by Richard the Lionheart, the Château-Gaillard Castle towers over the town of Les Andelys, another A-ROSA port of call along the Seine.

Settled in the 10th century when Vikings became Normans, Rouen is Normandy's capital. Most of A-ROSA's cruises stay overnight in this medieval city, allowing guests to explore its abundant historic sites in detail. Not to be missed is the tower where the patron saint of France, Joan of Arc was imprisoned before she was burned at the stake, and Rouen's spectacular Gothic cathedral.

Le Havre is located where the Seine meets the English Channel. Destroyed in WWII, the city was rebuilt in the striking architectural style of modernism.

THE RHÔNE/ SAÔNE RIVER

Originating in the Swiss Alps, the Rhône River connects the south-east of France with the Mediterranean Sea.

The historic city of Lyon, which built its fortune on the silk trade, sits at the confluence of the Rhône and Saône rivers and is the departure port for A-ROSA's cruises.

Sailing on the Rhône and Saône for over 15 years and offering more than 50 annual departures, A-ROSA has crafted a range of amazing 5-, 7- and 14-night itineraries, applying its vast knowledge of the region.

North of culinary capital Lyon lies endearing Mâcon, where some of Burgundy's best Chardonnays come from. Sailing south on the Rhône, A-ROSA calls on the medieval town of Viviers, starting point for excursions to the stunning Ardèche Gorges, also known as the European Grand Canyon.

Travelling further south, A-ROSA visits Avignon with its lyrically acclaimed bridge and Popes' Palace. This magnificent structure is one of the largest and most important Gothic buildings in Europe and was the papal residence during the 14th century.

Arles, the gateway to the Camargue, a protected National Park with exceptionally rich and varied flora and fauna, is A-ROSA's last stop before the Rhône meets the Mediterranean Sea. Once a provincial capital of ancient Rome with an amphitheatre built in 90 AD, the city of Arles is a treasure trove containing hundreds of Roman and Romanesque buildings and ruins.

TIP: Easily combine two cruises on the Rhône & Seine to offer your clients the full France experience. You can travel between Lyon and Paris in 2 hours with the TGV high-speed train. See the next page for more information.
